About

they began a family when Mya Faith Miller was born. Soon after, Angela, being the dedicated mother she was, decided to become a homemaker. In 2002, at Word of Faith in Grand Rapids, MI, Angela accepted Jesus as her Lord and Savior and was baptized following all of the loving conversations and faithful guidance from Jeremy. For one year, Angela and Jeremy lived holy before the Lord, and in 2003, she became Mrs. Angela Marie Miller in a beautiful marriage ceremony at the same church where she dedicated her life to the Lord.

Angela “Angie” Marie Sutton was born to the late Terrance “Terry” David Sutton and Frances Sutton, a business owner and homemaker, in Holland, MI on August 2, 1979. She attended Holland High School in Holland, MI and graduated in 1998. Angela has always been a determined, hard-working, and loyal person; she used these skills while working at Fleetwood Group in Holland, MI for over ten years. She was also very loving and she expressed her love when she met the love of her life.

In 1998, Angela met Jeremy Miller at her boyfriend's birthday party. Jeremy knew she was his wife when he first laid eyes on her. After many attempts to get Angela's attention, he finally was able to steal her away from her boyfriend. He also managed to steal her heart, and in 2000,

Over the next eight years, Angela gave birth to four more children: Zora Grace, Ayla Joy, Elijah Jeremy, and Ezra Noah. After three girls, they finally had their boys. Angela was devoted to her children and always kept her house clean while working 40+ hours each week. She was very organized and had a spirit of excellence. When Ezra was two years old, Angela went to work at Gentex Corporation, in Zeeland, MI, where she was trusted by many for over 8 years. She embodied the Fruit of the Spirit—namely love, kindness, patience, and gentleness—and was supportive and encouraging at her workplace. She made a lasting impression on everyone with her contagious laugh and smile.

Angela

Random strangers and friends often came to her to discuss the issues of life and were drawn to the light that shined within Angela.

Angela's light shined wherever she went. She was nurturing and loving, and she showed motherly characteristics at an early age. Angela's sisters relied on her as a babysitter for their children, and she passed on the knowledge she gleaned to all those around her. Angela always had a passion for the more beautiful things in life, and she captured every moment through pictures and videos. Angela loved live music, especially the violin. Her favorite violinist was Damien Escobar; she could listen to him all day on the serene deck of her house. She liked roller skating, even though she wasn't very good at it. She also enjoyed vacationing, cooking Mexican food, and eating sweets—she had the biggest sweet tooth. She reveled in laying out in the sun and being by the water.

Angela loved trying new things and was a fashionista. This passion for fashion led her eldest daughter, Mya, to become a runway model, which made Angela so proud. She managed and supported Mya's modeling career for 4 years. She was just as dedicated to all of her children's endeavors, whether it was Ayla's and Ezra's dance classes, Elijah's DJing, Zora's baking, Ayla's hairstyles, or Ezra and Elijah's football/basketball games. Angela never missed the moments that mattered to all those she loved; she was the epitome of "I don't know how she does it."

Angela was preceded in the death by her father, Terrance "Terry" David Sutton and mother-in-law, Carolyn Denise Miller. She is survived by her husband Jeremy Miller and their five children: Mya Faith, Zora Grace, Ayla Joy, Elijah Jeremy, and Ezra Noah. She also leaves to her cherished memory, her mother Frances Sutton; her sisters: Kathy Lynn Orellana (Leonel), and Melissa "Missy" Ann Sutton (James); her nephew and nieces: Kevin Orellana, Stephanie Orellana, Martha VanderLugt, DéAndre Sutton, Jovaan Daniels, Janaiah Daniels; and a host of aunts, uncles, great-nieces, other family members and close friends. ■

Messages from the Heart

I miss you so much mom, and I really wish that none of this happened. I wanted you to see me graduate, grow up, and walk down the wedding aisle. You were just always with us and loved all of us. You loved taking us to Walmart; we would stay there all day shopping for like, everything. We wouldn't get home until midnight.

You always gave me good advice on things. You were just one of the best moms and nobody can ever replace you. You always had a smile on your face always laughing; there was never a point where you were mad or sad, just always happy. Well, sometimes you would yell and get angry, but then 2 seconds later you would be back to your happy mood and I still loved you.

You inspired me, I miss your hugs and kisses. I miss you coming down every night in my room just to check on Ayla and me, praying with us and asking us how our day went or just to have girl talk. I love you so much.

~ Zora Grace

Mom, I miss you so much! I just wish you could be here with me and you could watch me grow up... like getting married, going to high school and graduating, and going to college and graduating. I never thought that you would leave this early; no one did. Just thinking when I heard those words "Mom passed away" just had my heart beating really fast and heart breaking into millions of pieces. I love you so much, mom, and one day I will be able to see you again; I know I will.

~ Ayla Joy

Tributes:

Angie was very neat and very clean and always helped me out a lot. She was very helpful when it was just her and me. When she wasn't home, I'd miss her presence. She was always a good kid growing up. She always helped by picking up after everyone. That carried on through the years until she was an adult.

She will be greatly missed. She was a special girl. Everyone liked her and she had a great personality. I know she's in a better place.

I love you Angie. You are my twin and mini-me. I will forever love and miss you and will keep you close in my heart. I love you dearest Angela.

Love,
Mom

Baby sis, I will miss all of our phone conversations, laughs we shared, and the silly things you did. You were truly one of a kind. Your passion for being a mother and wife was so exceptional that the void won't be replaced, but the memory will last forever. I know that someday I will see you again and I can't wait to hug you and hear your laugh! I love you Angie; you will forever be in my heart and in my memories. ~ Kathy

My dearest, loving, darling baby sis. How can I find the words to say, how much I miss you already. Throughout every single day. I miss our daily phone chats... The way you've listened to me ramble on and on. And how you've always cheered me up. Living life without you is so very hard to bear and I would give all I have to awaken you and see you standing here. I know you are up in Heaven, I hope you realize how much you are loved by all you left behind. Until I see you again, Sister. I love you so much! ~Melissa

Aunt Angie was always a character. I could never get enough of hearing her laugh. She was a pure soul and no matter how mad or sad I got, she would somehow find a way to make me feel better. She loved me with her whole heart. I couldn't have asked for a better Auntie as special as her. I will forever be grateful to her for raising me and helping me become the man I am today. I love you Aunt Angie. ~DeAndre
